CLARKSBURG, W. VA.

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1909.

An Evening Echo.

If you would be healthy, be sober and temperate.—B. Franklin.

Better Moral Conditions.

Mayor Moore is to be highly commended for the stand he has taken in favor of better social conditions in the streets. It has been an open shame that the streets have been overrun by women of questionable character. The assembling of these women and men on the street corners, has been notorious even to the point of detestation, and even fear on the part of decent people.

There never has been any excuse for that condition of affairs and the improvement already made under the new administration is noted with much pleasure by all persons, who desire to have a moral community.

Those who have been punished and who have been notified to leave the city may believe they have received harsh treatment, but they should remember that their own conduct is a menace to other people, and they have no one to blame save themselves for the prosecution given them.

There are men in the same class and they too will doubtless receive the same kind of attention from the administration.

Broad Oaks Movement.

As advertised there is a movement on foot to submit to the residents of Broad Oaks and Alta Vista, two leading suburbs of the city, the question of incorporating them and creating a town government. This agitation has been up before and, if the Telegram remembers correctly, it was voted on and defeated by a small margin. Whether there has been any great change of sentiment there since remains to be seen at the polls.
If such an election is agreed upon.

The question will be opposed by a number, who have not yet been able to see any benefit in government and the advantage of incorporation. But, on the other hand there are many enthusiasts for incorporation. If sentiment be divided among those active on either side, the fate of the movement will be determined by the lukewarm residents.

Both these suburbs are building up rapidly and they have a great future. They are properly a part of Clarksburg, though not officially. It would seem strange to strangers that such a splendid section should not be a part of the city proper.

There is no possible ground to deny that incorporation would be beneficial to these suburbs, though there may be some complaint about taxation. Incorporation should mean water, light and police service. All these may prove somewhat expensive in an independent corporation but the expenditure will be justified, if the service rendered is of good character. As a part of Clarksburg taxation might not be so high and public service ought to be better.

However, the question has not been studied very closely by the Telegram. Those most interested are doubtless better versed on the subject pro and con, and thoughts here presented are merely general suggestions.

The State's Position on Coal.

What West Virginia thinks about the coal tariff agitation is very well summed up by Charles M. Barnett, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Coal Company as follows and the paragraph ought to convince the national legislators:

There is no demand from our people for reciprocal coal; no persons, corporations or manufacturers (save one New England manufacturer and the Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania coal operators) are asking for free reciprocal coal with Canada. The demand of a few favored companies should not weigh in the balance against the large interests whose existence is dependent upon a reasonable and uniform duty being maintained on all grades of bituminous coal. And it is well to emphasize that the duty should be uniform on all grades of coal. The present distinction between culm and slack and other grades of bituminous coal is misleading, and a continuance of a lower duty on culm and slack than on other grades opens the door to fraudulent practices.

West Virginia in Poetry.

West Virginia is not altogether bereft of poetic inspiration, judging from toasts to the State composed by West Virginians which have just been published by the Charleston Mail. The Mail a few weeks ago asked for contributions of toasts in an effort to find one suitable for use upon appropriate occasions. The request brought forth numerous responses, and in a recent issue the Charleston newspaper published all of them. Here is one by H. L.
Thompson, of Charleston:

Here's to the land of laurel and pine,
Where men are brave and women divine;

Where crystal stream and mountain peak Reflect their tint in many a cheek; Where honor, truth and love make great Old West Virginia, the Mountain State.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

An Undesirable.

Jack Frost is an Undesirable Citizen just now.—Connellsville Courier.

Of Course.

We might have known something would happen to the peach crop.— Morgantown Post-Chronicle.

Another Trust Boycotted.

Connellsville (Pa.) pastors formed a trust for the purpose of banishing large hats from their churches, and now the trust is being boycotted.— Wheeling Register.

A Libel.

Minister to Bogota Northcott is being maligned by Washington correspondents as a political disturber in West Virginia, and the intimation is made that he is being sent out of the country as a measure of relief. What a libel.—Charleston Mail.

Cause to Be Proud.

Senators Elkins and Scott and the members of the house at Washington are making some of the other fellows down there realize that West Virginia is not as small potatoes in the business world as some of them thought. West Virginia should be proud of her Republican representatives in the Congress.—Sistersville Oil Review.

Better Plays.

There is a movement toward the betterment of the stage with respect to plays, and instead of "red fire and Roman candles" the plays are reaching a point that appeals to the educational sense of the public, and not to the "whoop, hurrah" sense.
The plays are beginning to be based on solid foundations and the substance of them is wholesome. Let the playwrights continue in this direction.
—Grafton Republican.

Removing Temptation.

Governor Glascock seems to be believing with the Apostle Paul that persons in the service of the state should avoid the very appearance of evil and make the clause in the Lord's prayer which says "Lead us not into temptation" their daily supplication.
The governor has issued an order which is far reaching and will keep the public servants of the state from exposing themselves to criticism.— Fairmont West Virginian.

Sistersville Not So Bad.

It is a noticeable fact that many people who complain of Sistersville being quiet, always have a mighty good word for the old town when they come back off a trip during which they have visited cities of several times the size of this one and found all of them in worse condition from a business standpoint. Sistersville is today the best town along the river, not excluding Wheeling or Parkersburg.—Sistersville Oil Review.

The Good Roads Laws.
Senator Sutherland's good roads law, vetoed by Governor Dawson, will stand the supreme court at Charleston having yesterday rendered a decision regarding them similar to the decision reached in the Charleston charter and other veto cases in actions brought before the court. When the friends of good roads become familiar with the requirements of the law the opinion of the supreme court will be generally approved, as without the two bills referred to becoming laws, the general good roads law, passed at the recent session of the legislature, would lose much of its usefulness.—Grafton Republican.

Scott's Speech.

The "stump pat" speech of Senator Scott, of West Virginia, sounds good and refreshing, even if it is not quite in harmony with the declarations of the Chicago convention and the proposed present attitude of the Republican majority in Congress. The cry for revision is being overdone, and the danger of the hour is that, mistaking clamor for real expression of public sentiment, Congress may yield too far to theoretical reform. Hence, though Mr. Scott is extreme the other way, he has done a distinct and timely service by his analysis of the situation as it affects West Virginia from the standpoint of protection pure and simple. A great deal of what he says of conditions in his own state and the effect of abandonment of protection upon certain of its industries applies with equal force to Pennsylvania. No doubt he will be hoisted at by some special interests, but he presents many facts which no amount of oratory can refute, and a few more such old-fashioned Republican prospective tariff speeches may have a sobering effect in the right quarter.— Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

FLIPPANCY OF THE HOUR

In Arthur's Court.

King Arthur has just instituted the Round Table.

"Fine," they cried, "but can you establish an untaxable table for the poor man?"

Herewith they perceived that chivalry amounted to little.—New York Sun.

ecutioner.—Boston Transcript.

The Bard's Reward.

death."

"Let us send him a wreath of flowers."

"Let us rather wait for his centennary, collect a number of wreaths and have public speaking."— Louisville Courier-Journal.

Couldn't Stop Him That Way.

Beautiful Maiden—Mr. Scapple, I can't have you coming to see me any more under a misapprehension.

Papa isn't wealthy now. He lost all his money last week on the board of trade.

Persistent Caller—That doesn't make any difference, Miss Flossie. I knew it already. I'm one of the fellows that got his money.—Chicago Tribune.

The Only Obstruction.

He was making his arrangements to spend the summer at a farm house. "What have you in the way of scenery?" he asked.

"There's nothing in the way but a couple of mountains," replied the farmer. "If it wasn't for them you could see scenery clear to the county seat."—Philadelphia Record.

VIRGINIA DEBT

Hearing to Be Resumed Before Special Master Littlefield at Richmond.

CHARLESTON, April 30.—The hearing of evidence, in behalf of this state in the debt litigation between Virginia and West Virginia, is announced will begin at Richmond next Tuesday, May 4, before Charles E.
Littlefield, special master.

West Virginia will be represented by John G. Carlisle, John C. Spooner and former Governor W. M. O. Dawson.

Earnest Rider and Frank Williams, assistant superintendents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company here, left on No. 2 this morning for Baltimore, where they will remain over Sunday.

C. D. Howard is here from Cowen.

RED MEN

Are to Hold Their State Meeting in Charleston
Next Week.

For the sixth time in the history of Redmanhood in West Virginia, Charleston will entertain the annual great council which begins on next Monday evening, continuing for two days. The sessions will be held at the Odd Fellows hall there and will be presided over by Dr. J. P. Bigony, of Hinton, Great Sachem. Each of the 111 lodges in the state will be represented, some by several delegates. The great council of the degree of Pocahontas will meet there at the same time. Its deliberations will be presided over by the Great Pocahontas, Florence Dixon, of Hill Top.

The Great Council will be the guest of Nakomis Tribe No. 13, of Charleston, and great preparations are being made for the visitors. In addition to the business meetings, numerous side trips and social affairs are being planned for the enjoyment of the delegates.

The delegates will be welcomed to Charleston at a public reception at the Kanawha hotel next Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The Great Council will be called to order Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock by R. H.
Kintz, of the Charleston tribe. Governor Glascock, Mayor Holley and Hon. Seymour Edwards have been invited to deliver the addresses of welcome to the council.

The officers for the coming year will be elected Wednesday. The next meeting place will also be decided on that day.

H. W. Phillips, of Buckhannon, was a visitor here Thursday.

CANT LOSE HAIR

Twenty Years From Today a Bald-headed Man Will Be An Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said: "If the new hair grower, Parisian Sage, increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years."

"And when Parisian Sage is used almost universally, baldness will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair, and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a baldhead will be a rarity."

There is only one way to cure dandruft and that is to kill the germs.
There is only one half preparation that will kill the germs, and that is Parisian Sage.

This unusual hair restorer with its record of thousands of cures will grow hair on any head where there is any life left; it is guaranteed by Sturm & Wilson to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp in two weeks, or money back.

It is the most pleasant and invigorating tonic, is not sticky or greasy and is used extensively by ladies of refinement, who desire to have and to keep their hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant.

Only 50 cents for a large bottle at Sturm & Wilson's and leading druggists everywhere, and remember when you buy a bottle of Parisian Sage you get more for 50 cents than the makers of ordinary tonics give you.
